HINTS

In some levels you will not be able to make it across certain gaps by jumping only. You may need to run.

Some levels contain teleporters that you must use to get to upper or lower ledges.

One level contains a giant bubble you will need to jump into and ride to continue your journey.

Sometimes you can carry a gem with you from one level to another.

In level 6 you will need to destroy the Van de Graaff machine with the giant chandelier. Also, there is a set of moving plates which, when aligned, will release a violent electrical charge. The lower plate is deadly to the spark creatures, but not deadly to you. You can ride the lower plate and be protected from the spark creatures.

In level 7 some stars, when struck by your sword, will turn into gems. If you need extra swords, you can get them in level 6. The arrow on the vertical shaft along the right side of the screen can be activated to catapult you back up to the ledge above. You will need to stand on a particular part of the ledge to complete this action.

STRATEGY

As the heroic, mighty Conan your goal is to find and destroy the villainous Volta. Your journey takes you deep within an ancient castle inhabited by frightful creatures and filled with deadly traps.

While searching for Volta, you battle your way through seven levels; each level introduces you to different foes and different dangers. You will encounter fierce dragons, glowing flame monsters, giant floating eyeballs, electric spark creatures, and lethal leapers.

The primary objective in each level is to obtain gems, place them in gem holders, and find the key to unlock the door to the next level. The exit from each level is indicated by a flashing arrow. You must determine the safest, quickest way to the exit.

You can walk, run, jump, and fall from any height without harm, but must avoid falling into pools of water, lava pits, fire pits, or the spike pit. You can also climb ladders, and by hurling your power sword, demolish your enemies. If a sword reappears once it has been thrown, you can capture it and add it to your reserve. Some foes will not be destroyed when struck by your sword.

You have one friend, a large bird, who keeps watch over you throughout your quest. He appears in some levels to aid you (touch him and receive an extra life), and eventually helps you to destroy the evil Volta.
